We promote safety,
wellness, and accessibility
on the farm.

About Us

AgrAbility Virginia assists farmers, farmworkers, and their families who identify with illness, injury, or disability. We promote safety, wellness, and accessibility on the farm through education, rehabilitative services, and assistive technology.

Who We Support

We support a wide diversity of farmers across all farming communities, such as:

- Small and mid-size farms
- Rural and urban farm settings
- Beginning farmers
- Military veteran farmers
- Socially disadvantaged farmers
- Limited resource farmers

We address a wide variety of disabling conditions in agriculture, including, but not limited to:

- Arthritis
- Spinal cord injuries/paralysis
- Back impairments
- Amputations
- Brain/head injury
- Visual/hearing impairments
- Cerebral palsy
- Stress and anxiety

How We Support

We offer support services to farmers that include, but are not limited to:

- Developing educational resources and trainings for farmers, farmworkers, and families
- Providing disability advocacy
- Identifying assistive technology for accessibility and mobility
- Coordinating community services and outreach
- Connecting farmers to funding sources

AgrAbility Virginia services are funded through USDA NIFA and are available at no cost.
